Visit the

Tavern of Lost Souls

Stop in and say hi to Vica, indulge in some of the finest mead in the stronghold.

Mead not your drink? Free well water to all who visit.

You can either sit down in the tavern or take the short walk over to Olaf's and enjoy the friendly locals. All are welcome.

Green orcs and all trolls are not welcome and will taste the town guards sword.

Problems with the undead?

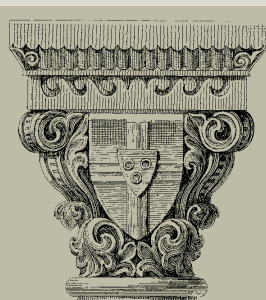

Well worry no more. That's right watch the undead cringe with fear when you brandish Stark's enchanted shovel. Time tested and effective. Just listen to a real customer's testament.

"Stark's enchanted shovel was amazing. Not only was I able to fell the undead single handed but crushing their skulls was effortless. Everyone should have a Stark enchanted shovel in their arsenal of weapons.

Greetings friends of the Realm. Laroon gave us chilly temperatures and plentiful snow these past moons, but now she smiles upon us with warm temperatures and sunshine. Once again Olaf's was busy with good cheer and tidings.

The Visit

An unknown visitor arrived at the Tavern of Lost Souls and handed Vica a bundle of... well, I can not say joy. The bundle was a baby and the mother is the Drow known as Ashe. The father's name was revealed and Vica shuttered. The father's name is Kaildor the dread vampire. The unknown visitor instructed Vica to do what she will with the baby, protect, nurture or kill it. To say Vica was unnerved would be a great understatement.

The baby's presence also brought unwelcome visitors. The Serpent guild was hired to retrieve the baby. They searched Olaf's and the Tavern of Lost Souls but found Vica and the baby at her cabin. They started to tear down her door but were driven off. Vica fled to the Manor house but the Serpent thieves quickly followed and attacked the Manor House. Fortunately the guards and good people of the strong hold banded together and defeated the Serpent thieves.

Unsure of what to do with the baby Vica came into contact with Tundru who was adamant that the baby should NOT be blessed. He then suggested a visit to the Dark Realm to collect 150 vials of Activation Sand. With this sand Tundru would be able to see the baby's future and then make his final judgment of the baby's fate. When Tundru asked the adventures who where present if they would risk the visit to the dark realm and retrieve the activation sand they did not hesitate to agree to go. Tundru then thanked them all individually and promised each 5 black mithril upon their return. The visit to the Dark Realm will take place next moon.

The Iron Forge Dwarves

Lord Elecsirt has enlisted the support of the Iron Forge Dwarves of Shar to close the mine near the sanctuary and open up the collapsed mine on the far end of the stronghold... the original brown Orc cave! The Dwarves were concerned for their safety so Captain Stark of the Elecsirt Stronghold reassured the Dwarves that he will have a party to stand guard and protect them during their work.

A single tear

A hired hand from a noble in Pelezar came into the stronghold on a caravan. He hired adventures to capture the tear of a mythical creature reported to appear once every nine years. Although there is much more to the story, that is all that was told to the hired adventurers. The mission was to acquire a single tear of the creature as it is considered to be the tear equivalent of a "limited-wish" spell. The noble paid the willing adventures some decent coin, while the noble received the real reward...a limited wish spell!

And the rest

The moon was rounded out with visits from day trolls, seekers, a figment and witches both evil and daft. There was talk of an ogre in the area but it was not encountered. Captain Stark found and defeated a Wraith but not before he received the mark of the wraith. Better get that mark removed Captain Stark.

Olaf's came under attacked by zombies and to his misfortune Erasco was affected by the zombie plague and was slowly dying. As luck would have it healers happened by Olaf's and were able to heal him to full health but they were not able to remove the plague. Erasco's health was strong enough that the plague ran it's course before he succumbed.

There was also a call to help Drowsbain. Our favorite rat had the task of protecting an Orange mithril pumpkin when he was attacked by day trolls. The trolls were handily defeated and Drowsbain and the pumpkin was saved. As of late, the whereabouts of the pumpkin are now in question.

Sleep well gentle readers, the good people of the Elecsirt Stronghold will keep you safe. Till next moon.
